EARTH SHOCKS CAUSE PANICS

Cathedral Partly Wrecked When Tremor Brings Down Altar—Landslides From Mountains Follow Rumblings—Roofs of Houses Crash to Ground

VENICE—(By United Press)—Inhabitants of Tolmezzo, at the foot of the Carnic Alps, are in a state of panic today after the outbreak of fresh earthquake shocks which were felt all during the night.

After hearing the rumblings nearly continuously for a day and night, the populace insists the "sky is open." Landslides of large boulders are frequently rolling down from nearby mountains, increasing the anxiety among the inhabitants.

At Cividale, the floor of the police station crashed to the basement following a strong shock, without injuring anyone.

Friday's earthquake had its epicentre at the Tolmesco cathedral which was badly damaged. The section of the nave near the main altar collapsed and several cornices and part of the ceiling fell in.

Altho many houses were cracked by the shocks and several roofs crashed to the ground at Venzone, no casualties have been yet reported.

Heavy rumblings, generally preceded the tremors, which were followed by landslides from the mountains.

FIGHT SEEN ON POSTAL BILL

Estimate Second Class Increase At $35,000,000

PAY PROPOSAL HELD UP

Committee Says Naval Power Not Waning

WASHINGTON—(By Associated Press)—Another effort for an agreement of the consideration of the postal pay increase bill failed today in the senate.

The plan proposed would have provided that the bill be taken up Jan. 8, but Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, blocked it because it contemplated reference of the measure to a committee. He declared it was an effort to kill it.

WASHINGTON — (By United Press)—The most sensational fight of the short session was brewing today as the senate awaited definite details of the bill to increase second class postal rates drafted by Postmaster General New. The bill would increase postal revenues to meet the objections of President Coolidge to the postal salaries increase measure which he vetoed because it did not provide the funds to meet its own terms.

The postal salaries increase would cause an additional expenditure, estimated by the senate postoffice committee at $86,000,000. President Coolidge said

HEALTH FIGHT LOST

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, lost his fight for life early Saturday. He died peacefully in his room at a San Antonio, Tex., hotel, when he suffered a relapse after apparently gaining in his battle against disease.

DEATH COMES TO CHIEF AT SAN ANTONIO

Last Thought of Labor Leader Is of Friends and American Institutions—Fights Grimly Until Sufferings Are Relieved—Aged 74 Years

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — (By Associated Press) — The grand old leader of American labor is dead. Samuel Gompers was granted his last wish. He died on American soil at 4:10 o'clock this morning, 11 hours after his arrival from Mexico City, where he was stricken last week.

Death was close on his heels as he sped from the Mexican capital to the border of his own country. For a time he eluded the final enemy, doggedly fighting off the issue, but death overtook the exhausted labor leader as he lay on his bed in a San Antonio hotel. Gompers did not evade the challenge when it came to him face to face; neither did he give up the fight.

FRIENDS PRESENT

Surrounding Gompers in his last moments were the men with whom he had fought many of labor's battles thru a generation of American union labor development. At his bed and holding his hand was James Duncan of Quincy, Mass., vice president of the federation, who has stood shoulder to shoulder with his leader for 44 years. Their parting was pathetic. Holding his other hand was William D. Mahon of Detroit, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes, whom the dying federation president affectionately called "Bill" and to whom he had said several days ago that he wished to shake him by the hand just before he went. There were others no less close to Gompers. John F. Giles, treasurer of the federation; Martin Ryan of Kansas City and Mathew Woll, of Chicago, all members of the executive committee, were there. Frank Morrison, secretary of the federation, also was at the deathbed. There also was his nurse, Miss Mathilda May, of New York City, who had been with him since his illness of August. She remained kneeling at the foot of the bed when the shadow of death crept over the stricken leader.

Death found Samuel Gompers as life found him—a fighting man. He never gave up. When told by his physicians that he was passing, his jaw clenched as tightly as feeble strength would permit, he breathed heavier, but he never said "I give up."

THOUGHT OF AMERICA

Gompers' last thought was of the American institutions he had labored so long to maintain. When he was convinced he could not win, he said to his nurse:

"Nurse, this is the end. God

LIGHT
How Much It Means at Christmas Time

Light is the very spirit of a gala festive Yuletide. Light streaming from the windows through the blurred, snowy night. Light sparkling in colored jewels over the Christmas tree. Light gleaming on the gifts and the holly and over the table where the guests are assembled.

It wouldn't be Christmas without Light! And artificial illumination as we have it today—in electric light is the safest, cleanest, most convenient and abundant light that man has ever known. Let's be thankful for the force of electricity at all times, but especially so at Christmas.

FIGHT SEEN ON POSTAL BILL

in his veto message he was unwilling to pass this increase along to taxpayers.

DETAILS SECRET

Details of the new bill have been kept secret, but it is understood to propose increase in second class postal rates involving about $35,000 annually. Opponents of this feature in the senate declared it would destroy the mail circulation of daily papers and cause the country weeklies to cease publication.

Chairman Sterling of the postoffice committee said he expected to receive the bill from the postmaster general today and that as soon as he received it, he would introduce it.

WASHINGTON—(By Associated Press)—The house subcommittee which framed the annual naval supply bill declared in its report today that there is no ground for alarm that "our naval prestige is rapidly waning."

"Self-styled experts and others who cannot possibly be in a position to speak authoritatively," the report said, "seemingly with little difficulty get into the public prints with articles depicting us as retrograding in varying degrees and the effect has been to create quite generally the impression that our naval prestige is rapidly waning. The committee does not feel that the country need be alarmed.

"The 5-5-3 or treaty ratio, as to tonnage and numbers, applies exclusively to capital ships, and to aircraft carriers of more than ten thousand tons displacement. With the possible exception of the Florida, no one can say that as to the capital ships the 5-5-3 does not prevail. The navy department reported to the house of representatives on May 21 last that our treaty ratio had fallen from 5-5-3 to 5-4-3 because of the impaired condition of the boilers on certain of our older battleships, a condition which since has been remedied on all but the Florida and the money has been available right along.

MAYFIELD CASE

Meeting today to hear the last of eight witnesses presented in support of charges of fraud and intimidation in the election of Sen. Mayfield, Democrat, Texas, made by George E. B. Peddy, his opponent, the senate elections committee was prepared to decide on conclusion of the testimony as to whether it will go further into these charges.

Chairman Spencer announced he would ask the committee to decide whether it wished to proceed further in this phase of the contest brought by Peddy against the Texas senator on the basis of evidence presented since the reopening of the hearings.

The senate faced a definite choice today between government and private operation of Muscle Shoals.

Senator Underwood, Democrat, Alabama, author of the pending Muscle Shoals bill, has demanded that the senate declare itself on this issue before consuming more time in debate. The showdown will come in a vote on the amendment of Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, proposing to strike out the entire leasing clause of the Underwood bill and providing for government operation of the plant at full capacity for fertilizer experimentation. The Underwood bill as it now stands, favors first private operation under lease and, as a last resort government operation.

Leaders of both parties were bending their efforts today to check what they regard as a nincipient filibuster against the Underwood bill. The last three days have seen only an accumulation of amendments and leaders have resorted to persuasion to lift the blockade to consideration of other important legislation.

Senator Underwood has pointed out that a filibuster cannot prevent a vote unless the opposition's tactics are continued until the end of the session, as the unanimous consent agreement under which the Muscle Shoals question is now before the senate will keep it there until final disposition is obtained.

Senator Underwood, Democrat, Alabama, today obtained unanimous consent of the senate to have a senate investigation of statements made about the Underwood Muscle Shoals bill and himself, of an editorial appearing in today's issue of the Washington Herald.

The editorial was referred to the judiciary committee which was given authority to subpoena the author of the editorial and other persons to "get at the bottom of the charges."

The Alabama senator and former Democratic floor leader declared the newspaper had charged him with having been influenced in preparation of his bill by the Alabama Power Co., and with yielding to corporate influence in his public life.

He replied that the inference was "a lie" and said he believed "the editorial was purchased by the interests who are trying to gobble this power" at Muscle Shoals.

GOMPERS LOSES HEALTH FIGHT

bless our American institutions. May they grow better day by day."

These words took his last strength and after that he was unable to utter a syllable.

The great heart pulsed feebly and soon it ceased its wearied work.

Until the moment when he slipped into unconsciousness, about one hour before his death, he was able to look into the future and was master of his own situation. He gave a few simple directions for his funeral, should the end come before morning. He talked to his followers; he called for lifelong friends whose hands he wanted to clasp before slipping away.

> WASHINGTON — (By United Press)—Before Samuel Gompers left on his last trip to El Paso and Mexico City, he told his secretary that if he died he wished to be returned to Sleepy Hollow cemetery, New York, for burial, Samuel J. Gompers, Jr., eldest son of the labor leader, said today.
> Mrs. Gompers, Samuel J. Gompers, Jr., and Henry Gompers, who reside here, plan to meet the body on its arrival in New York for funeral services there Tuesday or Wednesday.

With all the energy that his 74-year-old body could muster, he grappled with the enemy that had come to claim him. In life he had made both friends and enemies. In death he had only one enemy. Against that he could not prevail, and he gave his soul with the vigorous protest that was characteristic of him.

When Gompers took ill in Mexico City a few days ago he expressed the wish that if he was to die he wanted to pass away on American soil. His physicians would not let him rise from his sickbed to go to the train but had him taken on a stretcher and placed him in a special coach, the stretcher being passed thru a window.

This was said to have given rise to the report that he was dead, sent out from some town in Mexico along the route which Mr. Gompers' car traveled to Laredo, Texas.

NEAR TO DEATH

His wish to reach his own country before death could overtake him almost was defeated, for he sank very low on the journey from Mexico City. Dr. W. S. Cockrell, his physician and friend for 25 years, a resident of the Mexican capital, who accompanied him north, said that had Gompers remained in the high altitude of Mexico City six hours longer he could not have reached the homeland alive.

The complications which combined to end the career of the famous labor leader have beset his aging body for several years, according to his physicians but the final acute attack was brought on by a change of weather in Mexico City, which resulted in a cold and congestion of the lungs, the body worn by intense labor at the recent American Federation of Labor convention in El Paso, could offer little resistance. His mind and will, however, resisted with all their might, and their determination to live if only a few hours longer enabled him to go to his final rest in the country of the laboring man he had championed and defended thru a whole lifetime. In his dying moments Gompers had an opportunity to witness the affection in which he was held by his own people and the public as well. As his cot was being lowered from the special car in the railroad yards here at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon a great throng gathered. Its temper was indicated when the persons nearest him prevented photographs being taken.

"It is no way to treat a sick man," they shouted. Gompers wore his familiar cap and spectacles as he was lowered from the train. He pulled the cap down slightly over his face to protect himself from the cool air and smiled wanly as some one greeted him.

The ambulance which bore him to his last bed in life had to pick its way carefully thru the traffic jam and the crowd. The procession to the hotel become something of a triumphal march. According to C. N. Idar, of San Antonio, general organizer for the American Federation of Labor, Gompers' final acute illness came following a walk up a long flight of steps to the Mexican National Palace to attend the inauguration of President Calles a week ago last Tuesday. When Gompers reached the last step exhausted, he exclaimed to his escort:

"I do not mind climbing the stairs, but I do not want to climb the 'golden stairs' just yet."

Gompers' body will lie in state at the undertaking company parlors here from 11 o'clock this morning until it is taken to a train tonight for its last journey east. Local labor leaders will be named pall bearers to carry the body to the station. A detail of policemen will also serve as a guard of honor.

Mayor John W. Tobin of San Antonio has issued a proclamation calling upon the city to pay tribute to the late labor leader.

Moness said he had sent instruction to San Antonio to have the body transported to this city where it is expected to arrive Monday night or Tuesday morning. The plot in Sleepy Hollow cemetery where interment will be made, is opposite the Andrew Carnegie plot. Mr. Gompers and Mr. Moness owned it jointly.

TOLD OF DEATH

It was apparent at 2:30 a. m., that Gompers was going, his physian stated. He was told by Dr. Leo Rice of San Antonio, attending him, that he was in a critical condition and might not live out the night. The dying man breathed more heavily for a moment, but there was no other response.

Officials of the federation gathered about the bedside. The strain of the vigil was apparent on many of them. Some of them stepped into the hall and a few gave way to tears, as it was apparent their comrade of many years was passing on.

Dr. Rice sketched the patient's medical history after his arrival in San Antonio, briefly as follows:

"The heart rate on arrival was 160 but under the influence of digitalis it had slowed down to 140 at 11 p. m. From this time he was improving until a sudden collapse occurred at 2:30 a. m., when his heart refused to respond to stimulation.

"Epinephrin was used and he was bled a pint and a half of blood to relieve congestion of his lungs. After each procedure he rallied for a few minutes but almost at once collapsed.

"I was told he had been suffering from diabetes. Two specimens taken during the evening were free from sugar and this disease did not participate in the final attack.

"The heart was fibrillating (absolute irregularity) when he arrived but it is not known how long this condition had existed.

"I told Gompers at 3:30 that he was in a critical condition and might not pass thru the night. He understood but did not respond, his heavy breathing preventing any spoken words."

WARNED OF END

When the doctors announced that the end had come, labor officials gathered about the bed and each laid an affectionate hand on the brow or the hand of their leader and each in turn said "goodbye Sam." Each desired to touch the fallen leader while he still was in a manner theirs. It was the end of a long journey for many of them, as Gompers had fought with them thru a lifetime.

He lay partly propped up in the bed, several pillows under his head and shoulders, apparently sleeping, changed only by the pallor of death. For a few minutes his followers remaind at the bedside and then stepped one by one into an adjoining room, leaving only the two faithful nurses alone with the body. Miss May held her patient's hand and laid another hand on his cooling brow. She had fought the fight with him to the last, having been his constant attendant for more than four months. She was reluctant to acknowledge defeat against the last great enemy. Her companion nurse, Mrs. Marie Jameiton of San Antonio, remained with her in the vigil from which hope had fled. Miss May was overcome and was unable to tell her part in the final struggle. Long sleepless hours and the giving of strength that the dying take from the living had been her part, and defeat was its tragic recompense.

In a short time the door to the room where Gompers died was locked and only a few of his closest co-workers were closeted with the last mortal vestige of their leader. In a manner known only to them, they offered up to a greater leader that which was once Sam Gompers.

SUFFERED FOR YEARS

Physicians said that Gompers had been suffering for many years from the ailments which combined today in the last successful attack on their victim. Old age made it impossible longer to ward off the combined assault and it was inevitable that he must go soon, they said.

The following statement was issued by Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor and members of the executive council present at six o'clock this morning:

"President Gompers died at 4:10 o'clock this morning after heroic efforts to save his life. Dr. Leo Rice and Dr. W. B. Hanson of San Antonio were in attendance. Dr. Rice stated that Gompers' heart failed to respond to restoratives. There has been an acute condition of the heart and kidneys for fully a year and a half past. It was impossible to overcome the weakness of the heart. Every possible measure was taken to prolong Gompers' life but to no avail.

"At 2:30 this morning he uttered his last words. From that time until the end Gompers was unconscious. His breathing was heavy until just a few moments before the end. As death approached his face became calm and he sank peacefully and quietly into his last slumber.

"In accordance with a wish expressed in Mexico City when he believed the end to be near, Vice President James Duncan held Gompers' hand as he passed away.

"Gompers during his last moments was surrounded by a group, the members of which have for years been his intimate associates and co-workers. Among them was John P. Frey, editor of the Molders' Journal and president of the Ohio State Federation of Labor.

Moness said it was probable that the remains of the labor leader would be taken from the train to the Elks' club here. Gompers is survived by three sons and his widow. The sons are: Albert Gompers, of New York; Henry Gompers, of Washington, and Samuel Gompers, Jr., chief clerk in the department of labor at Washington.

Mrs. Gompers resides at the family home in Washington.

THREE IN LINE

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press) — The man to succeed Samuel Gompers as president of the American Federation of Labor is expected in labor circles here to be chosen from three men, all present members of the executive council. They are William Green, secretary-treasurer, United Mine Workers; Matthew Wool for the last 15 years presideot of the International Photo Engravers' Union and Thomas Rickett, president of the United Garment Workers. James Duncan, first vice president of the American Federation of Labor, formerly of the Granite Workers' Union, will receive some consideration. These eligibles, it was learned, have been quietly discussed thruout national councils of the organization for months past as Gompers' failing health became increasingly apparent.

Under Article six, Section five of the A. F. of L. constitution, Secretary Frank Morrison will now notify the executive council to meet within six days. The councillors will elect a provisional president, almost certainly from among their own number, it was said, and the new incumbent will hold the office of chief executive until the next annual convention when a general election will be held.

TRIBUTE TO CHIEF

In the general gloom caused here by the passing of the veteran chieftain the various labor leaders were loathe to discuss political chances of the likely candidates. Their only expressions were ones of devoted tribute to the memory of Gompers himself.

Peter J. Brady, president of the federation bank, the $7,000,000 labor institution, said "the death of Samuel Gompers will be felt to the foundations of the labor movement but only to show how secure he has left them."

James P. Holland, president of the New York State Federation of Labor said the influence of Gompers' career had been "to make the United States at last labor-minded."

Sara Conboy, of the United Textile Workers, speaking for women in labor said "no true measure of Mr. Gompers' life and work can fail to include his continuous surveillance of the problem of women and children.

SHOCK TO CAPITOL

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) —The death of Samuel Gompers, after his condition had shown improvement came as an almost unbearable shock to his subordinates and associates here in the American Federation of Labor.

Miss R. Lee Guard, Gompers' secretary for 25 years, had been on watch in his Washington office for several days but she had been confident of the outcome of his fight for life. The first report of the death of the labor leader came to her from The Associated Press.

A false report of Gompers' death, which was circulated widely and published in some newspapers on Thursday had started a flood of messages of condolence coming into the federation offices Today their numbers were multiplied many times, augmented by cablegrams from notable figures abroad with whom his long activity in international affair has made him acquainted.

To the men and women identified with the federation it has appeared impossible to think of carrying on except under the leadership of their long time chief. His 43 years of service had made him the commanding figure of the federation.

DIRECTING POWER

Matthew Woll, first vice president, had taken some share of the burdan of appearing in public from the shoulders of the chief, but to the last, as was evident by his trip to Mexico and by his investigation just previous into Panama Canal Zone labor affairs, but Gompers himself remained the directing power of the organization. Five years ago he began work upon his autobiography and at intervals of leisure pursued the task assiduously. It was practically complete when he left for the El Paso convention. There is the gravest interest at federation headquarters in the problem put before the federation by necessity of naming a successor to Mr. Gompers.

Often in recent years Mr. Gompers would have been willing to retire except for the difficulty of naming a successor who could command the same unanimity of support accorded him, with few exceptions, thruout his long career.

No prediction as to who might be chosen as Gomper's successor were made at the federation's offices today. Members of the immediate family who live here, including Mrs. Gompers and Samuel Gompers, Jr., who is chief clerk of the repartment of labor, communicated with those who were at the death bed regarding funeral arrangements but left the decision largely to the men with whom Mr. Gompers had been associated for so many years.

CHICAGO—(By United Press) —Charging that Samuel Gompers, dead labor chieftain, worked in the interest of capital, the Workers' party of America today issued a call on the workers "to kill Gomperism." The bitter attack was made in a statement over the signature of William Z. Foster, secretary of the organization.

Gompers died in the harness of his masters, the imperialists of America, in his last great effort to extend their power over the tolling masses of the world," the statement said in part. "The El Paso convention of the A. F. of L. was the crowning achievement in a long life of working class betrayal.

"Gompers was the enemy of industrial unionism, fighting desperately to keep the unions small, divided and weak. He conspired with the capitalist politicians to keep the labor movement hitched to the capitalist parties.

WASHINGTON — (By United Press)—President Coolidge today wrote Mrs. Samuel Gompers, widow of the labor leader, who died early today, expressing his deep sympathy with her bereavement.

His letter follows:

"My Dear Mrs. Gompers:

"It is with great regret that I have heard of your bereavement and I want to express to you my deep sympathy in your sorrow. Mr. Gompers' whole life was devoted to the interests of organized labor, until his name had become almost synonomous with the cause which he represented. As the founder and head of a great organization no man has had a wider influence in the shaping of the policy of the wage-earners of the nation and his loss will long be felt by his associates, not only at home but abroad.

"Very Truly Yours,
"CALVIN COOLIDGE"

HEAD OF LABOR

Samuel Gompers, son of an English cigar-maker, was the head and forefront of the American organized labor movement. In 1881 he organized the American Federation of Labor, as a national association of labor unions, and with the exception of one year, he was its president continuously from that time.

He was intimately connected with every great labor dispute in this country during the last 50 years, and headed the labor forces in numerous strikes instituted by the trade unions affiliated with the American Federation.

"At the annual session of the American Federation of Labor at El Paso, Tex., in November, 1924, Gompers was elected president for the 43rd time. That session was followed by a joint session of the American Federation of Labor, and the Mexican Federation of Labor, of sessions of the Pan-American Federation of Labor and the inauguration of President Calles of Mexico, which officials of all three organizations attended at Mexico City.

"While at the Mexican capital, Gompers was stricken with a recurrence of the ailment that had kept him more or less an invalid for some years. Complicated by a slight cold and aggravated by the altitude, the aged labor leader was unable to attend the closing ceremonies of the inauguration."

He was father of much legislation, both state and national, designed to relieve and protect the workingman. In recent years a large part of his time was spent before legislative committees suggesting, supporting, and framing labor legislation.

FOUNDED ORGANIZATION

Prior to his founding the national labor organization in 1881, the labor movement was in the hands of comparatively small, individual unions, in the various states, working without much real co-operation. By forming the Federation, he welded the entire movement into a nation-wide, compact unit which grew to be a power in the political, commercial and industrial life of the country.

Among the laws Gompers framed, supported or originated, were: the eight hour law for government employes; the various state laws fixing hours of labor; laws establishing Labor Day as the workingmen's holiday; the Federal Workingmen's compensation law; the law limiting the use of injunctions in labor disputes; the law exempting labor unions from prosecution as combinations in restraint of trade: and the law regulating punishment for contempt of court. He was also directly responsible for the legislation which created the Department of Labor as a separate department of the Federal government with a cabinet member as its head.

The legislation exempting trade unions from the anti-trust laws, regulating punishment for contempt, and limiting the use of the injunction which was included in the Clayton Anti-Trust law passed by the Sixty-third Congress grew out of litigation against trade unions and their officials, with which Gompers was directly concerned. The contempt section of the Clayton Act was framed to meet conditions which arose thru the conviction of Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, officers of the American Federation of Labor of contempt of court in 1908. Justice Daniel Thew Wright of the Supreme court of the District of Columbia sentenced the three labor leaders to jail for violation of an injunction prohibiting the Federation from boycotting the Bucks Stove and Range Co. of St. Louis. An appeal carried to the Supreme court set aside the conviction on technical grounds, and new contempt proceedings were instituted. Another conviction and sentence in the lower courts were set aside by the Supreme Court on the ground that the statute of limitation had expired before the second proceedings were begun.

ASKED EXEMPTIONS

During the seven years this case was in litigation, Gompers exerted his influence to reform injunction and contempt procedure, court decisions holding that trade unions could be prosecuted as combinations in restraint of trade under the Sherman Anti-Trust law prompted him to couple with these reforms a demand for a specific exemption from anti-trust prosecutions for labor organizations. All these were incorporated in the Clayton revision of the anti-trust laws.

Thruout the twenty years of anti-trust agitation which followed the enactment of the Sherman Anti-Trust law, Gompers was active in urging legislation and litigation against the big combinations of capital which had grown up in the industrial world. He conducted a campaign against the United States Steel Corporation which culminated in an exhaustive investigation of that concern by a committee of the House of Representatives.

In his long administration of the American Federation of Labor, Mr. Gompers was constantly called upon to avert threatened schisms in the organization, and to bring together factional elements which developed from time to time. By his efforts compromise after compromise was effected, and the unity of the federation was maintained. Thruout, he was a staunch advocate of the "trade union" system of labor organization as opposed to the "industrial union" system, and his efforts and those of his followers developed the American labor movement along the lines of the former plan. He was constantly called upon by unions affiliated with the federation to act as arbitrator and mediator in labor disputes, and he probably settled by his individual efforts more strikes than any other man in labor history.

BORN IN LONDON

Gompers was born in London, England, January 31, 1850. His father was a cigar-maker and Samuel was the eldest of eight children. His mother was a woman of excellent education and thru her influence he was led to study. Notwithstanding the fact that at the age of ten he began to help his father support the family. He went to school after his sixth to his tenth year and was then apprenticed to a shoemaker. This trade was not to his liking, however, and he learned the trade of his father and while working as a cigar-maker attended evening school for four years.

He came to the United States when he was thirteen years old and worked as a cigar-maker in New York City. In 1864 he first became identified with the labor movement when he helped organize the Cigar-Makers' International union. He served as secretary and president of the union for six years and under his management it became a large and successful organization. He also edited the local paper of the Cigar-Makers' union, the "Picket," during that time. It was in connection with this work that he became interested in a national association of trade unions that would preserve the autonomy of the local organizations. Under his leadership the Cigar-Makers' union fought the Knights of Labor on this principle. He served as president of the New York State Federation of Labor for two years, and in 1881 founded the national federation, serving as its president of the first five years without compensation.

Several opportunities to enter public office were declined by Gompers at different times in his career. He refused to run for the state senate in New York, altho offered both Republican and Democratic nominations. He declined a Republican nomination for congress. Governor Hill of New York offered him a place on the state board of arbitration and President McKinley tendered him an appointment on the Industrial Commission, but he declined both. He was active in the agitation for a treaty between the United States and Great Britain which would provide for the arbitration of all disputes.

In 1898 he served as a delegate to the national conference held at Saratoga, N. Y., to discuss ways and means to meet the conditions in the United States growing out of the Spanish-American war and he was a member of the committee that presented the views of that conference to President McKinley.

Notwithstanding earnest opposition by a substantial part of the union labor element, Gompers took an active part in the organization of the National Civic Federation, formed to establish better relations between capital and labor. He represented labor in the federation, and was vice president of the organization. He also took part in many congresses, conferences and conventions devoted to the promotion of social service.

MEMBER OF MASONS

He was affiliated with the Society for Ethical Culture of New York City, established in 1867 by Felix Adler, and in addition to the American Federation of Labor he remained an active member of the Cigar-Makers' International union. He also belonged to the Free and Accepted Masons, the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks and the Home club.

He was the author of numerous small pamphlets in the nature of tracts on labor questions, wrote a book on the world labor movement and edited the "American Federationist," the official organ of the American Federation.

Thruout his career, Gompers refused to become identified with any political party, taking the position that he could be of more service to the cause of labor by holding himself aloof from identification with any single political organization.

He married Sophia Julian, of sisted of three sons and a daughsisted of three sons and a daughter.

NEW YORK — (Special)—On the morning of Saturday, Jan. 24, New York's millions will stop in their rush to work long enough to look into a darkened sky and watch the moon shut out the sun!

At the same time other millions will form a broad band of gaping sky-gazers stretching like an arc from northern Minnesota to lower New England.

Within this band, about 100 miles wide, a total eclipse of the sun will be visible. Beyond it the eclipse may be observed in partial form.

An eclipse occurs whenever the moon, in its revolution about the earth once a month, happens to come between the sun and the earth. Then the moon's shadow falls on the earth and, within the belt crossed by it, there is a total eclipse. On either side of this path a partial eclipse may be seen.

A partial eclipse occurs almost every year in any one locality. But it's the total eclipse that's a spectacle.

It occurs only once in a lifetime, over any one district. Scientists await it with strong telescopes and cameras, to study its movement, its effect, and the accompanying phenomena.

This time, all along the belt of the total eclipse, astronomers will have their instruments poised against the sky. They will be ready when, as the sun rises in northern Minnesota, the moon's shadow will be observed in its entirety. Then, at the terrific speed of 2,000 miles an hour, the shadow will be seen rushing southeastward across Lake Superior, northern Michigan and Wisconsin, Lake Huron, southern Ontario, parts of New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Connecticut, the center line passing seaward directly over Montauk Point at the extremity of Long Island.

Leaving the United States, the shadow will curve northward until it will leave the earth at sunset in the ocean wastes to the west of Scotland.

The eclipse may be observed along this 100-mile band, first as moon moves slowly across the face of the sun, then as it shuts out the sun entirely, and lastly as the moon moves on.

Smoked glasses are needed to observe the first and last processes. But the total eclipse will be seen easily by the naked eye. Then, just for a minute or two, it will completely shut out the sunlight, the brighter stars will come out, a violet afterglow will appear along the horizon and around the black disk of the moon will appear a bright glare shooting out on all sides into the mysterious heavens beyond.

This is the corona of the sun which scientists have been trying to study for the light it may throw on the constitution of the sun and of matter itself.

The whole phenomenon will last about two hours. The total eclipse itself will last only from one to two minutes, and will be seen in New York between 9:10 and 9:15 in the morning.

It is its formation and its decline that last about an hour each.

GUARD AGAINST TONG OUTBREAK

Feared Court Convictions Will Act As Signal

CLEVELAND — (By United Press)—Police took extra precautions against a possible outbreak today as seven Chinese tongmen, members of the Hip Sing, appeared in criminal court for sentence on their conviction of extorting $70,000 worth of property from Wong Sing, president of the On Leong tong.

Officials predicted that as a result of the convictions, guns of the tongs, quieted by a truce during the trial, will roar again in a dozen Chinatowns from Denver to New York.

Detectives patroled the Chinese district here and began rounding up all Chinese who have no established business. Those who could not give satisfactory explanations of their presence in the city were held until the present tenseness subsides.

The jury hearing the tong case returned a verdict last night of blanket conviction against the seven men charged with plotting to seize control of the Cleveland On Leon Tong, a Chinese merchants' association.

The trial was watched by Chinese of both factions from coast to coast.

BANQUET IS BIG SUCCESS

Isaak Walton League Has Banner Meeting

Friday was Beaverdam's biggest night.

More than 250 sportsmen, largely members of the Isaac Walton league, invaded the village to partake of a banquet at the Methodist church and greet Ozark Ripley, of Chattanooga, Tenn., nationally famous hunter and fisherman.

Ripley told of the organization of the league and of the work it is doing in various sections of the country. Thanks to the league, Georgia mountaineers, 17 miles off a railroad are prohibiting turkey shooting in spring. They have their own way of enforcing their own law too, Ripley added.

He also spoke of the work in other sections of the country and predicted the time when the great out of doors will be brought back for coming generations.

Judge Fred C. Becker, chairman of the Allen-co chapter, Judge Kent W. Hughes, Melvin C. Light, Dr. Yingling, and others also made short talks.

Every member was urged to report to the league instances of law violation and stream pollution. A list of these nuisances will be made and the league will take steps to halt continuation.

The banquet served by the ladies of the Methodist church was delicious, bounteous, and will be long remembered. Visitors from all parts of Allen-co present at the affair highly praised the culinary skill of the Methodist ladies.

A return banquet will be given in Lima sometime during the winter.

AGENT ACCUSED

Dry Officer Faces Charges In Liquor Scandal

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—(By Associated Press)—Albert Ransom, federal prohibition agent, faces indictment for malfeasance in office in connection with the Weehawken liquor situation. County Prosecutor Milton has said that United States District Attorney Wynne will ask the federal grand jury in Newark for the indictment next Tuesday.

Ransom appeared before the county grand jury yesterday and later told newspaper men that he had been "tipped off" by William P. Verdon, Republican leader of Hoboken, that a cargo of liquor was unloaded on the Weehawken water front the night of Nov. 21.

Accompanied by David J. Allen, who was recently dismissed as purchasing agent for the Atlanta penitentiary by Attorney General Stone, Ransom said he went to a spot near the water front and stopped a truck which he suspected of containing liquor. The driver of the truck and his two helpers escaped, Ransom asserted, an investigation revealed that there was no liquor in the vehicle. The agent said he was offered $1,000 to release the truck but refused the bribe.

A pistol battle between police and bootleggers in Harrison, N. J., yesterday resulted in the capture of a seven-ton truck loaded with whisky valued at $25,000. The bootleggers escaped and no one was injured.

JURY DEADLOCKS IN $15,000 DAMAGE CASE

Trial of a $15,000 damage action brought by C. J. Gossard against J. T. Main, tractor dealer, wound up in a stalemate in common pleas court late Friday, when the jury reported no agreement could be reached. They were dismissed by Judge Fred C. Becker.

One member of the jury blocked agreement when the final vote was taken. The vote stood 7 to 5. Effort to win over one more vote to the majority side were unavailing. The case will be retried.

WOMAN BLAMED

Alleged Ambitious Wife Back Of Cabinet Crisis

BERLIN —(By United Press)—The ambition of a woman is blocking settlement of the German cabinet crisis, according to gossip in government circles.

Frau Stresemann, wife of the foreign minister, has long wanted to be chancelloress of Germany and is understood to be urging her husband, who heads the Nationalists, to obtain the post of chancellor.

Dr. Stresemann himself is ambitious to head a government, but the complicated situation resulting from the national elections makes it practically impossible for a cabinet of the right to be formed.

Chancellor Marx received the leaders of the Socialist party today. The latter have declared they will not support a government headed by Dr. Stresemann.

THIRD PARTY IS QUESTION

Leaders To Determine Fate At February Meeting

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — —The question whether a new political party is to be created by the political and labor forces which joined in the last campaign to support the presidential candidacy of Sen. La Follette of Wisconsin, will be decided by a national convention to meet in Chicago on Feb. 21.

SOME DIVISION

The national convention of the conference for progressive political action, which led in the La Follette campaign, after an all-day discussion, which indicated some division, decided late last night to assemble the convention to decide the future of the movement. The formal call for the convention will be issued by William H. Johnston, chairman of the conference, from Washington next week.

Railroad labor organization representatives attending the meeting voted to drop tentative plans for calling the convention, which would be a necessary step to the creation of a new party, but the Socialist, Farmer-Labor and other representatives on the committee constituted a majority in its support.

TO COMMITTEE

It was decided that under terms of a resolution adopted by the Cleveland convention last July, at which Sen. La Follette was nominated, all questions as to future national policy of the various organizations and groups which fused in the La Follette campaign must be submitted to the committee.

A committee of Illinois residents, including Mrs. Glenn Plumb, Parley P. Christianson, Charles MacGowan, Mrs. Bertha Hale White and Dr. John Lapp, was named to take charge of convention arrangements.

Choosing An Occupation

Extraordinary ways of making a living come to light now and then. Consider the unique work of Professor Jaggar, as related in the Medical Critic and Guide:

"Professor Jaggar has devoted his life to the study of the world's volcanoes, and Kilauea (in Hawaii), is his special pet. He is most of the time in or near the pit of Kilauea. No mother has been more solicitous about her only baby, has watched it more tenderly than Professor Jaggar over Kilauea. He knows every inch of the ground, every stone, every crack. He knows her moods and understands her language.

"No ordinary layman can understand the interest in and the love that the true scientist has for his special subject—be it microbes, insects, shells, stars, rocks or volcanoes."

You probably recall seeing Jay O. Turner, who originated the occupation of impersonating a wax figure in store windows. He once offered $20,000 to anyone who could make him laugh while on the job.

A Jersey City man specializes at winding watches, often handling 5,000 a week. He is part of a big watch-repairing organization.

Around large bakeries you find employes who do nothing but break eggs and examine for bad ones.

We doubt if there is a single unique human want that hasn't a specialist somewhere to handle it, all the way from trivial details to phenomenal skill.

Considering the vast assortment of odd occupations, there is little reason for anyone to do work he doesn't like. There are many thousands of different routine occupations for a man to choose among, and in addition are hundreds of strange specialties.

Trouble is, no matter what a man selects as a means of earning a livelihod, it eventually becomes monotonous. Most of us are temperamental vagabonds, yearning to flit from one line of work to another.

The more you study the wide assortment of ways of making money, the more you realize how much there is to learn in this world and how little of the total any man can master in a lifetime. Industry is an almost infinite labyrinth. Each man has his corridor, and he dies without more than a vague realization of what takes place outside of his own "line."

Peril For The Future

The report of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, submitted to congres sby the president, contains matter that should arrest the attention of the public and compel serious thought with reference to the aircraft situation, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. The picture here presented is not reassuring, rather it is suggestive of sinister and ominous possibilities with which the nation may have to deal.

There are no restrictions on the development and application of aircraft for war purposes. England, France, Japan and Italy are engaged in a hectic competition of aircraft building. The consensus of expert scientific authority agrees that these machines will be deadly factors in the next and future wars.

We are behind the nations in aircraft development. Says the committee: "It is safe to say that there will be individual and group fighting in the air; there will be aircraft attacking troops on the ground, both with bombs dropped from great heights and with machine guns mounted on low-flying craft protected by armor from ordinary rifle bullets; there will be bombing of large cities, military and manufacturing centers and routes of communication and transportation."

Attention again is called to the fact that these machines can be used to drop poisonous gases, not only on enemy troops, but also behind the lines, and that they may also drop bombs loaded with germs to spread disease.

The picture is not an exaggeration. The blotting out of peaceful communities, the destroying of terrified, innocent and helpless populations is no longer to be regarded as a mere possibility. The time may be at hand when the most appalling war shambles may be found behind the lines of fighting men.

In its examination of Representative Curry's bill for the creation of a separate department of air, congress would do well to consider the facts, statements and suggestions of this report with more than casual interest. The report certainly indicates an alarming picture of what will happen to the United States if it continues to be deficient in aircratf.

A department of air, such as England has, should assist to bring this country to an equal air status with any other. Anything less than that should be unthinkable. Removing the air problem from the quarreling army and navy influences would seem to be a sensible thing to do.

Discipline And Individualism

"I found the German soldier equal to three allied soldiers," says Major General Robert Lee Bullard, and the statement has resulted in the stirring up of a hornets' nest of approval and criticism, says the Wall-st News. The general's declaration, however, probably does not warrant the censure which at first thought seems merited, for it is likely he did not mean what he said exactly as it sounds.

His statement was made in discussing the value of discipline both in military and civil life. In his comparison it is likely the general meant that because of discipline and the co-ordinated thinking under a system, each German soldier could account for three allied fighters before he himself went down. That should not necessarily be taken as stating that if a lone German soldier had been placed in an open space he could have beaten three allied men. The worth of discipline is brought out mostly when it is taken collectively.

General Bullard's statement is not new only in that he uses former enemy and our own soldiers as an example. That is a touchy subject and the participants rather than the comparison between discipline and individualism are probably responsible for the wide and what promises to be a heated controversy over the issue.

It is common knowledge that a well disciplined force can accomplish more than one without discipline. It is true in industry, in business, in sports. A factory where the employes move with clock-like precision and who work strictly along the policy set down by a guiding hand will benefit more than one in which there is no uniform policy or where there is no discipline, even tho the workmen individually are superior. The same principle holds true no less in warfare.

Discipline is an asset. So is individualism. Each has its sphere. In different cases will the one prove superior to the other. The triumph would be greater if the two could advantageously be combined. That is probably what General Bullard had in mind. The German soldier as an individual was not superior to three allied men. He was not superior to one only inasmuch as he was a part of a well-oiled machine. The general's statement casts no reflections on the fighting qualities or bravery of our and the allied soldiers . It was only a plea for discipline—a timely plea—but one in which the example is bound to give rise to an argument which promises to be interesting.

MASTOIDITIS

Am interested, writes a reader, in learning the exact location and function of what is called the mastoid gland.

The mastoid, to begin with, isn't a gland, but just a bony process or prominence behind the ear. It is part of the temporal bone. It is situated, I suppose, in the best place the Creator could select for it, tho it sometimes seems about as awkwardly in the way as a sore thumb. The mastoid process is not solid bone, but spongy or hollow within where there are air cells which communicate with each other and with the cavity of the ear inside the drum. So it happens that inflammation in the ear frequently extends into the mastoid cells. Then there is a very thin wall of bone between the mastoid cells and the brain cavity itself, so that severe inflammation in the mastoid cells (mastoiditis), sometimes damages that wall and breaks thru into brain membranes or tissues. That is the reason why mastoiditis is a serious condition.

Probably in every case of mastoiditis the cause is infection of the mastoid cells by bacteria from an inflamed or "running" middle ear, which physicians call otitis media and laymen sometimes describe as a "gathering" in the ear. Mastoiditis with its attendant dangers must be looked upon as an ever threatening risk for any one who has a chronic running ear, and this is not much influenced by the immediate amount of the discharge, altho an extraordinarily profuse discharge from the ear after a "gathering" has broken usually means that the pus is coming from the mastoid cells.

Unquestionably a great many cases of acute mastoiditis proceed to spontaneous and complete recovery without operation. The condition often runs its course in young children undiagnosed or inaccurately diagnosed as just suppurating ear.

Meningitis, brain abscess and septic thrombosis are the grave complications which occur in some cases of mastoiditis. The facial nerve passes thru the mastoid area and is not rarely involved in inflammatory conditions, resulting in one sided paralysis of the face.

In a child there is seldom any evidence by which the layman may know that a mastoid infection has developed as a complication of ear inflammation or running ear. It requires the physician's skill to recognize mastoiditis. In a very few cases in adults noticeable tenderness of the bone behind the ear, or even redness and swelling there, may indiaate mastoiditis.

Of course, the treatment is the treatment of the ear condition responsible. I have already said that many cases of mastoiditis go on to spontaneous recovery. Nevertheless mastoiditis or a condition likely to lead to it, is always a serious matter which should have the best medical and surgical attention obtainable, for there is nothing to be gained, and too much to be risked in any attempts at "home treatment" of these conditions.

Sugar in Diabetes.

A says a diabetes patient is never free from sugar. B says that while adhering to a proper diet the patient's urine show no trace of sugar. In view of the fact that physicians now instruct patients in the testing of the urine this would seem to be a fair question for you to settle. (MRS. S. D. P.)

JUST FOLKS

By Edgar A. Guest

THE JOB

Suppose life were football, or baseball, or tennis,
And your name were Watson, or Williams, or Dennis,
And you were the fullback—you'd know without doubt then
Just what your job was, its ins and its outs then,
And just what a fullback with real spirit should be,
And you'd try to be the best fullback you could be.

Well, life is like football—without explanation
You find yourself cast at some difficult station,
You don't know just why you were placed where life holds you,
Or the curious chance that in such fashion molds you—
But here you are, working at something or other,
Give your best to that job and don't envy another.

You know what your name is—I'll venture that maybe
They called you Jim Green when you came as a baby,
You know that you're here, but not what God meant you
To do when to labor as Jim Green he sent you;
Well, this is your duty—whatever God's plan be:
To be the best sort of a Jim Green you can be!

Don't worry about the vague why and the wherefore,
There is much in this life we can't answer, and therefore
Giev thought to yourself. Are you fair in your labor?
Do you make a good man, a good friend, a good neighbor?
With your job as Jim Green, as the swift years are going,
Are you doing your best, is your Jim Green worth knowing?

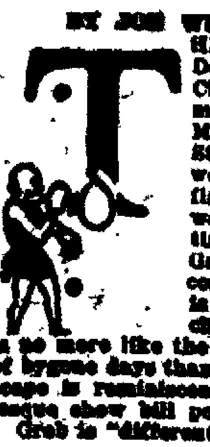
BY JOE WILLIAMS



THE original Jack Dempsey, Joe Choynski, Tommy Ryan, Kid McCoy and Stanley Ketchel were the five finest middleweights of all time. Harry Greb at least comes next. Greb is the present champion. He is no more like the great battlers of bygone days than a Corot landscape is reminiscent of a burlesque show bill poster.

Greb is "different." Of all the freaks the game has ever known the Pittsburgh windmill, aptly named, is the freakiest. Greb hasn't a single PUNCH in his repertory. He tells you that himself.

"I've got a good SWING tho," he adds. "A left swing to the body that seems to hurt the boys."

Old-timers used to marvel at Abe Attell, featherweight champion. Abe would sit up all night drawing to full houses and then go out the next day and take on tough lightweights like Tommy Murphy over the 20-round route.

Greb is much like that. Some months ago Greb was matched to meet Tiger Flowers, Georgia southpaw, at Fremont, O. The Tiger is a dangerous colored gent, as he has just proved to Johnny Wilson. The Tiger was in there to win that fight. A lot of smart money was riding on him. A knockout would make him champion.

Greb was tipped off. It worried the champion to such an extent that he did all his training RIDING AROUND THE COUNTRY IN AN AUTOMOBILE! Greb likes a good time. If fighting interferes with his pleasure he stops fighting.

WONDER LEGS CARRY GREB TO TOP

Greb's legs make him great. They are durable, speedy and powerful. They carry him forward and backward with incredible swiftness. This accounts for his ability to hit quickly and get away without being hit.

George Engle managed Greb into the championship. Engle is no longer connected with Greb but he has nothing but admiration for him.

"Greb is the strangest fighter I ever saw," Engle tells you, "and one of the greatest. He is the only fighter in the world who starts one punch, changes his mind and delivers another. He will start a right, then switch to a left, or just the reverse, AND NOT ONCE WILL HE MISS! No opponent can figure Greb. No manager can figure him. He can't figure himself.

"Greb was under me the night he whipped Tommy Gibbons. The result was a tremendous surprise. Gibbons had always beaten Greb. In this fight I made Greb stand up straighter, shoot his punches straighter and FIGHT CLEAN. Greb likes to rough it but he is a better fighter when he does not ignore the rules."

GIBBONS HAD GREB OUT ON HIS FEET

Engle says Gibbons had Greb out on his feet in the second round but was fooled by Greb's acting. Gibbons got home a terrific left hook and it shook Greb to the toes. Instead of going into a clinch or backing away Greb began to dance up and down and smile.

Gibbons stood still to enjoy the spectacle. It cost him the fight. Greb's bean soon cleared and then he came on to give the St. Paul harp one of the worst whippings he ever got.

Greb has always wanted to meet Dempsey, and many experts believe it would be a real fight. Greb never had any trouble against big fellows. He beat Miske, Madden, Levinsky, Roper, Weinert, Norfolk, Gunboat Smith and Gene Tunney. Firpo could not knock out Homer Smith. Greb did it with his LEFT SWING.

Saints Beat Grovers Friday

DELPHOS — Even tho hampered not a little by a strange small floor, the local St. John's cagers tore away victors in a close and exciting game at Grover Hill, Friday night, by a score of 24-18.

The game started with Stratton, Horney, and Kohn, of Grover Hill, running the score up to 5-0, against the locals in the first few minutes of play.

During that time, however, the blue and gold were getting their bearings and when their turn came, L. Ulm, local guard put in two free throws and then dribbled in and shot the first field goal for St. Johns.

Every S. John's man was busy and the floor work they displayed excelled all past performances. Mueller starred in this department, while Hanf, the other forward was up to his old tricks as high point man and rolled in six pretty ones during the fight.

Grover Hill men fought hard and clean but were unable to overcome the lead of the local men that was piled up in the last half. Hiett, tho failing to register anything in the way of a score, worked hard and steady every minute and captured the ball invariably off the bank board.

In the preliminary between the North and South side Grover Hill girls, the former team won by a score of 4-3. This was an exciting and fast exhibition of girlish cage skill.

KNIGHTS BEAT CONTINENTAL

DELPHOS—Local Knights of Columbus team toured to Continental Friday night and beat that five.

This has been a long expected come-back of the local team that is composed solely of former St. John's High school stars. During the past week they have been getting up steam and will also be fully prepared for the Grover Hill team next Wednesday night.

R. Ulm, former star forward of St. John's, is back in form, having rolled in nine field goals during the game, and the work of "Red" Weible was commendable.

The game was fast and clean. Continental opened up the scoring sheet and registered three baskets before the locals began their shots, then the half ended in favor of Delphos by a score of 14-6. During the third and fourth quarters, particularly the latter, Delphos slowed up and allowed the home men to run their end of the numerals up to twenty-two, when at one time they were beaten by a score of 24-15.

Since the great improvement has come to his team, Manager Grady will now seek return games.

CHICAGO FIGURES BEST

CHICAGO—Campus statisticians of the University of Chicago in football season post-mortems, have figured the Maroon team has the best record of the Western Conference during the last 30 years, the last four years and the season just closed.

Since 1897 Chicago has played 182 games, 33 more than Illinois, its nearest rival, according to the Daily Maroon, student publication. Chicago's percentage in 30 years was .750; Michigan .703; Ohio State .638 and Illinois .666, the figures said.

In four years Chicago has lost two of eighteen conference games, with an average of .888, Michigan made .800 and Iowa .800.

Last season Chicago, title winner, took four games and tied three.

Harold J. Hangnall, who, altho beaten 9 and 8 in the club finals, did not blame the clicking of a newspaper camera for his defeat.

Billy Evans Says

While Coach Knute Rockne isn't claiming any football titles, the experts have conceded that his Notre Dame team is champion of the universe.

Rockne's proteges have gone thru a tough season without the blemish of a defeat. It is doubtful if ever a college team faced a harder schedule than the 1924 itinerary of the Fighting Irish.

A majority of the games were played away from home and the leading teams from every section of the country were met.

While the regular schedule of Notre Dame has been completed, perhaps the biggest test of the season awaits them. Stanford is to be met Jan. 1 in the feature game of the Tournament of Roses.

It is football history that playing under coast climatic conditions an eastern team is at a decided handicap. Coaches of eastern teams that have played coast games say the players are only 75 per cent efficient.

In a season that has been replete with form reversals, it would occasion no great surprise if Stanford further upset the dope.

Knute Rockne has said that a team must be keyed up to the highest pitch to do its best work on the gridiron. He also says it is practically an impossibility to keep up the emotions after a big game.

It is precedent that a team lets down after reaching top form. Perhaps Rockne's theories explain why Princeton, a team that looked like a world beater against Harvard, was just ordinary against Yale.

Rockne explains the unusual success of his 1924 team by saying the players regarded every game on the schedule as the high spot, all the same, just a day's work.

It will be a meeting of the master minds of football when Notre Dame, coached by Rockne, meets Stanford, directed by the resourceful Warner.

These two great coaches have been the brains back of much that is worth while in football. Many of the innovations that have been introduced into the game are credited to Rockne and Warner.

Warner, in his first year at Stanford, has met marked success. His team is generally credited with being the Pacific coast champions, although the title is a bit shrouded.

Both California, last year's titleholder, and Stanford have a clean slate. In most sports a champion is a champion until he is beaten. California has been tied but not beaten.

As a matter of fact, the awarding of the title by the experts to California is based on the fact that California was twice tied, while Stanford only once, by California.

Then there is the question the eligibility of Cleaveland, Stanford's star. It is alleged he has played more than the regulation three years.

The coast championship may not be definitely settled until the meeting of the Coast conference. However, if Stanford beats Notre Dame the coast will have the right to make a noise like champions.

COLLINS HEAD OF WHITE SOX

NEW YORK—Eddie Collins, veteran second baseman, has signed a contract to manage the Chicago White Sox next season, it was announced. Evers, however, may be retained as a coach.

WAIVERS ASKED

BOSTON—Waivers have been asked by the Boston Red Sox on Steve O'Neil, Bobby Veach and Jack, Quinn, three veteran players. The waivers, it is said, were asked merely as feelers for trades and does not mean that the players are out of the big leagues.

WILLIAMS AFTER JOHNSON

NEW YORK—Harry Williams, president of the Pacific Coast league, announced that he would ask Commissioner Landis to force Ban Johnson, president of the American league to prove his charges that gambling was permitted in the Coast league.

NABHOLTZ PLAYS HAGEN

CLEVELAND — Larry Nabholtz, professional golfer at the Cedarhurst Country club here, announced last night that he will leave for California after Christmas to engage in contests with Hagen, Sarazen, Walker, Duncan, Mitchell and others in January.

HOW GIBBONS BEAT NORFOLK

FANS CLAMOR FOR SOMETHING NEW

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

NEW YORK—(United Press)—Success of the New York Boxing Commission in arranging the first of the elimination rounds in the tournament to decide the successor to the world's featherweight championship may start a new vogue. Boxing needs a lot of new vogues, because it is going along like it did fifty yers ago and times certainly have been changed since then.

Baseball rules are changed frequently to keep the game abreast of modern conditions. The rules, of course, haven't been altered radically but when modern times brought about the trick of tampering with the ball, the rule makers got busy and legislated the spitter, the shiner, the emery ball and other trick deliveries out of the game.

Football and basketball rules are being changed continually and golf, one o fthe very oldest of popular games, has been kept up with the times by legislators. Tennis, based upon fundamentals that hardly could be changed, has had frequent rule changes to meet problems that didn't exist in the old days.

Until the Walker Boxing Bill was passed in New York there had been no serious attempt made to get a modern set of rules that would bring the game up to date. There were only the London prize ring rules and the Marquis of Queensberry rules. Neither set of rules was thoroly understood either by boxers or referees and the conduct of a bout reached the point where most anything went as long as it was above the belt. The violation of the rule wasn't so much, as being caught at it.

When Firpo and Wills fought recently in New Jersey Firpo and his friends complained that Firpo was fouled many times by being held and hit and was hit on the breakaway. The referee, Danny Sullivan, a very high-class and conscientious official, replied to the criticism by saying that the two fighters agreed before the bout started that they could hit with one hand free and that they were to protect themselves at all times.

I would seem from this, and also from many other cases that could be quoted, that some better rules are needed to circumvent the necessity of having fighters make their rules when they go to the center of the ring.

* * * * *

Firpo was hurt badly from a punch on the jaw that was delivered when he had his head turned toward the referee, who had been talking to him. Several years ago Ted Lewis was knocked out in London by Georges Carpentier when he had his head turned toward the referee.

Of course, in a hard game like the fighting racket, a boxer is a sucker when he fails to keep his eyes on the man in front of him and when he neglects to protect himself. There are occasions, however, when the referee can distract the attention of one of the fighters in the ring.

In trying to modernize boxing rules and general conditions, the various boxing commissions have had to overcome a dogma of boxing that a champion can be dethroned only by a smack on the whiskers and that the word of the referee always is final and that there is no appeal from his decision.

Some of the old-timers still insist that it is wrong to pass a championship from one fighter to another on a decision, unless the champion has been on the floor most of the time. The idea of having judges to assist the referee in declaring a winner when there was no knockout scored was criticized by the old-timers and it still has its opponents, altho the merits of the new system are slowly proving themselves.

Grove Five Trounce Elida

COLUMBUS GROVE — Boys' and girls' basketball teams of Columbus Grove high school won over Elida boys and girls here Friday night. Score of the boys' game was Columbus Grove 28, Elida 10, and the girls' game was Columbus Grove 25, Elida 6.

Doty, local forward, was the best player of the boys' game. He tossed 7 field goals and added an extra point on a free throw for a total of 15 points, more than the amount the entire Elida team was able to garner.

Columbus Grove girls, champions of Putnam-co last year, played their first game of the season against Elida and showed all the signs of last year's strength. They are out to again win the county championship. I. Lora, right forward, scored 14 points and the remainder were made by Thomas, left forward. John, Elida forward, made all her team's points.

Hectic Cage Season In Prospect

CHICAGO — A hectic basketball season at the Western Conference was forecast in information received here today. Wisconsin, Iowa and Ohio seem to have the best prospects. Last year's title was shared by Chicago, Illinois and Wisconsin.

The Badgers have five letter men, not all regulars as the nucleus of their 1924 combination. Illinois has only Captain aMurer, forward, and Lipe of the regulars, altho sophomore material is plentiful.

Chicago is a little better off with Captain Weiss, guard; Alyea, center and Barnes, forward, as mainstays.

Ohio virtually has a veteran team. Jake Cameron, Captain Cunningham, center; Shaw, Seiffer, Minor and Matusoff are back.

Coach Sam Barry of Iowa has Captain Janse and Laude, forwards, Jansen, center and Hogan, sophomore, guard.

Northwestern has received a jolt in the announced ineligibility of Captain Alva Graham.

Everett Dean, one time all-conference center, is coaching Indiana, his alma mater, with last year's regular team intact.

Michigan is perhaps hardest hit. It lost Kipke, Birks and Deng, by graduation and Mogridge, Henderson and McWood by ineligibility. Captain Haggerty, forward; Doyle center and Cherry, guard, are back.

Three veterans and possibly a fourth are Purdue's most promising material. Captain Wellman and Roberts, guards, and Taube, forward, are in again and Spradling, an all-conference guard, may return.

SQUARED CIRCLE

NEW YORK—With one stroke of his pen Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul heavyweight, who knocked out Kid Norfolk of Baltimore in the sixth round Tuesday, has challenged Mike McTigue and Gene Tunney and has declared his willingness to meet Champion Jack Dempsey again. The challenge to Tunney and McTigue is in the hands of the state athletic commission. Meanwhile Tex Rickard is busy on plans for a match outdoors early in the summer in which Gibbons and Dempsey are expected to figure. He is said to have changed his mind about staging the battle in Madison Square Garden in May, just before the ancient arena is razed. Harry Wills, negro, who defeated Luis Angel Firpo in Jersey City, is also on the list of acceptable opponents, according to Gibbons' manager, Eddie Kane.

NEW YORK—Demanding more time to get in proper condition, Johnny Wilson, former middleweight champion, has called off a return bout with Tiger Flowers, which had been arranged by a Boston promoter for Jan. 5

SANTIAGO—Luis Angel Firpo has been tossed out of the South American heavyweight championship and Quintin Romero has been named as his successor. The South American boxing commission, in session here punished Firpo for ignoring Romero's challenge for a year by removing him from the title.

NEW YORK — (By United Press) — Louis Kid Kaplan, Meriden, Conn., knocked out Jose Lombardo, Panama, in the fourth round of a bout staged last night in Madison Square Garden. It was the semi-final round of the elimination series arranged to find a successor to Johnny Dundee's vacated championship. Kaplan and Danny Kramer, Philadelphia will meet in the final round for the title.

NEW YORK — Receipt of Tom Gibbons challenges against Mike McTigue and Gene Tunney, the light heavyweight champion, was admitted by the New York State Boxing commission. Action on the challenges was deferred until the next meeting.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich—Young Stribling, Atlanta, Light Heavyweight, won a newspaper decision over Joe Lohman of Toledo, Ohio, in ten rounds here last night.

NORTHWESTERN BUSY

EVANSTON, Ill.—Northwestern has added three games to its 1925 schedule. They are South Dakota at Evanston, October 3; Carleton college at Evanston, October 10; Tulane at Evanston, Oct. 24.

TAYLOR ELECTED

MONMOUTH, Ill.—Warren Taylor, a halfback, has been elected captain of the 1925 Monmouth college football team.

Central High Beaten By Gomer

Brilliant passwork and a speedy attack gave Gomer High a 32 to 22 victory over Central in the latter's first game of the season Friday night at Central gym.

The Gomer quintet, playing with exactly the same men who composed the team last year, hopped into the lead early in the game when Glen Vandemark, rangy center, dropped two in from the free throw line. Franklyn Doan, Central center, tied the count with a short shot a few seconds later, but soon Gomer added another point on a free throw and the visiting team led thereafter.

VANDEMARK PLAYED WELL

Glen Vandemark, Gomer pivot man, was the high point gatherer of the contest. The big fellow played a nice game both on offense and defense and piled up five field goals and as many free throws for a total of 15 points. William Williams, diminutive Gomer forward, got four fielders from difficult angles, while McKibben, his running mate, made 3 field goals and 3 free throws. Lloyd and J. Vandemark, guards, were largely responsible for their team's victory by their excellent work on the defense.

THE BIG THREE

Herbst, Doan and Kuhn were the Red and Green satellites. Herbst played a dandy game on the defense while Doan was the high point-getter for Central with four field goals. Doan made three goals in the first five minutes of the game. "Red" Kuhn showed the makings of a star during his stay in the game by some nice offensive work.

Young's Boys Dazzle Aquinas

Staging a strong rally in the last quarter the St. Rose cagers came from behind and defeated Columbus Aquinas, 27 to 22 at the St. Rose gym Friday night.

Spectators were kept continually on edge by multiple thrils, the teams see-sawing from leadership to disadvantage thruout the battle. The visitors' weight was a big factor in their favor but the Rosarians' whirlwind passwork was too much for them.

The first quarter was nip and tuck with the capitol city five holding a one point margin as it closed 8 to 7.

In the second period the visitors were bewildered by the locals' bombardment. St. Rose led at the half, 15 to 12.

The Rosarians ran up against a stone wall defense after the intermission and were unable to count a single marker in the third quarter. The rangy Columbus quintet, however, nicked the St. Rose defense for four field goals and ran their total up to 20.

In the last period the best offensive work of the game was displayed by the Red and White. Coach Young's basketeers dazzled the Aquinas lads with their fast work sinking six field goals in as many minutes for 12 points. At the same time Columbus was able to drop only one shot thru the hoop.

There was no individual luminary for St. Rose. The whole combination worked as one unit for a common end. Graff and Capt Boyle, however, were big cogs in the locals' offense, counting 8 and 7 points respectively.

Capt. Albaneze was the mainstay for Columbus, performing splendidly at running guard, and scoring 4 points.

In the preliminary, which was featured by the fine defensive play of both crews, the St. Rose Reserves lost to the Gomer Reserves, 13 to 8.

BREAK FOLLOWS WHEAT JUMP

Profit Taking Sales Lead To Decline

EXPORT REPORTS CAUSE

Corn Closely Follows Wheat In Rise And Fall

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — Altho wheat today promptly broke another high price record for the season, profit-taking sales soon led to declines.

On the downturn however, aggressive buying again developed. The new buying was apparently based on indications that export business overnight had been of fair volume and that likelihood of a reduction of the United States visible supply total on Monday was becoming more pronounced. The opening which varied from unchanged figures to 1 3-8c higher with December touching $1.64 1-2, May $1.67 7-8 to 1.68 1-4 and July $1.48 to 1.48 1-8, was followed by a general setback to below yesterday's finish and then something of a rally.

Corn as well as wheat touched new high price records for the season and then receded on account of selling to realize profits. Country offerings of corn were scarce. After opening unchanged to 3-4c higher, May $1.30 3-4 to 1.31 1-8, the corn market underwent a material decline all around.

Oats started at 1-4c off to 1-8c up, May 65 to 65 1-4c. Later all months showed some loss.

Influenced by firmness of the hog market, provisions averaged higher.

Wheat closed nervous, at the same as yesterday's finish to 3-8c lower, May $1.67 3-4 to 1.67 7-8 and July $1.47 3-4 to 1.47 7-8.

Corn closed unsteady at the same as yesterday's finish to 1 1-8c lower, May $1.30 1-2 to 1.30 3-4.

GAS EXPLOSION WRECKS HOME

Woman Is Killed And 12 Houses Damaged

PIQUA—(By United Press)—Mrs. Martha Bishop, 74, was killed, her husband, Joe Bishop, 78, was perhaps fatally injured and 12 surroundings houses were damaged by a gas explosion in the Bishop home today.

The home of S. D. Gilbert, nearby, was wrecked completely and Margaret Gilbert, 26, was buried under a deluge of falling plaster. She was rescued, however, and her injuries are minor.

The blast resulted when Mrs. Bishop lighted her gas stove this morning.

Police immediately roped off several blocks, where the damage was heaviest and placed the district under guard.

Bishop's body was found in bed on the second floor. The remains of that one room were left standing and firemen brought Bishop down on a ladder.

250,000 Tests In Ten Years Finally Bring Steel that No Amount of Heat Can Melt

HAMILTON, Ohio — (Special) —J. G. Donaldson ten years ago began working out an idea for a steel that would not melt and would resist the best of high-power drills

Four or five unsuccessful attempts to accomplish something usually balks the average man—but not Donaldson and his co-worker, Henry L. Coles.

They faced disappointment exactly 210,000 times before they received the slightest encouragement in their work.

Before they had completed their project, they had put it thru 250,000 experiments.

Now Donaldson has refused an offer of $100,000 for the formula and manufacturing rights of the new metal. He calls it "Don Steel."

Bankers say it will revolutionize the vault and safe building industry.

But Donaldson refuses to take any credit for his work.

"The boys here all helped us develop it," he says. By the "boys," he means his several hundred employes.

HERMIT LIKES JAZZ

MANCHESTER, England — "Jazz music is a greater artistic achievement than the classics," said Herman Wale, known as the "Hermit of the Hills," who recently returned to London after 13 years spent in seclusion. "Jazz music awakens a response in the soul that makes other and supposedly finer music seem cold in comparison," he declared.

PAINTS ON STILTS

LONDON — Walter Howard, well-known London stiltwalker, recently attracted much attention when he stood on tremendously high stilts and painted his house. Howard was arrested as a "peeping Tom" two years ago. He is about 60 years old.

JUMBO FLIVVERS

BOMBAY—A sick elephant was carried to a Bombay veterinarian on two automobiles running side by side. The elephant was cured and when one of the machines refused to move, the elephant pushed it back to his plantation.

ENTER MR. LEOPARD

LONDON — "Dolly," the pet leopard of Mme. Dolores Pondc, French actress, caused a near riot in a local theatre when she appeared on the stage during a tense moment of the melodrama, "Grim Night." The orchestra fled to a man.

WISE INVESTORS WILL BUY IN WESTWOOD.

RABBIT IS BRAVE

PARIS — "Arthur," Belgian hare in a park zoo here, amuses the crowds that flock thru the resort by showing defiance to "Henri," the lion. The rabbit actually seems to intimidate the "king of beasts." The elephant seems to regard the rabbit in much the same way an elephant looks upon a mouse.

DICTOPHONE DIVORCE

BERNE, Switzerland — Mrs Rudolph Lowe came to her husband's office and found him absent. Having some time on her hands, she began to operate his dictophone. From the record on the machine she heard him use endearing terms to his pretty stenographer. She obtained a divorce the following week.
